ADDRESSING THE NEEDS OF ATTORNEYS AND ADMINISTRATORS ONE FIRM AT A TIME

We all should know by now that it's not just about the technology -- it's about people making use of the technology. If you have good people, then good technology will make them better – more productive – happier with their jobs – even healthier! But if you've ever suffered through a bad technology upgrade, you know how downright difficult it can be to get the momentum up for another change. What if the next technology upgrade your firm adopts improves the life of everyone at the firm without significantly changing anything? Ever been thanked for a technology upgrade before?
